Discussion Questions

- Do you think agencies use body worn cameras chiefly as a means of evidence collection (for efficiency), or more as a means to improve police behavior?
- Are you aware of creative uses of body worn cameras in the field? Are there emerging practices or innovations that you observe?
- Are there important aspects of body worn camera policy that have changed over time? Do you see any changes on the horizon?
- Focusing on body worn camera program implementation issues, what have you observed in the field and what chief lessons do you think agencies should take heed of?
